COUNTY GROUP SELECTS KIRK AS PRESIDENT

New Holland Banker Elected to Head Farm and Home Committee

George Kirk, president of the New Holland First National bank, was elected president of the Pickaway-co Farm and Home Protective committee at the organization meeting held in the court house Thursday afternoon.

Other officers selected are: John L. May, Walnut-twp, vice president, and J. R. Noecker, this city, secretary. Other members of the committee are Charles H. May, this city; John H. Dunlap, Williamsport, and Whitney Lamb of Commercial Point.

The committee was named by Governor George White to study and help when possible the farm or home owner faced with foreclosure.

The next meeting of the committee is scheduled for Feb. 16.

Court to Study Sale Legality

URBANA, Ill., Feb. 3.—An Illinois court had before it today the problem of deciding on the legality of the "five and ten cent" foreclosure sales of mortgaged farm property which corn belt farmers have resorted to in a desperate effort to save their property.

W. A. Doss of Monticello, Ill., husband of a mortgage holder, has brought suit to recover $2,750 worth of farm equipment and livestock of Charles Grady, Cham-paign-co farmer, which brought $4.88 at an auction Tuesday.

Grady's neighbors not only kept the bidding to a five and ten cent level but refused to allow a considerable to remove the equipment when Doss tried to move it away on trucks.

Doss contends that the sale was illegal, holding that his claims as a creditor were violated by the crowd of farmers. The court is expected to hand down a decision in May.

Meanwhile the problems of the farmer with mortgaged property was subject of concern in other parts of the corn belt.

ALLEGED THIEVES JAILED BY SHERIFF

M. L. Woodrow, 32, and William Swift, 53, of Wayne-twp, were in the county jail following their arrest Thursday night by Sheriff Charles Radcliff for stealing of corn from the H. M. Crites farm in Wayne-twp.

Radcliff asserted that when he placed the two under arrest on the Darbyville turnpike about 10 p. m. Thursday that they were pushing a cart containing two sacks full of corn which was allegedly stolen from the farm.

Charges of petit larceny were to be filed by the tenant of the farm, Mr. Mussick.

Finding of More Than $100 Returned in Beverly's Report; Official Says Checks Paid Cramer for City Work Were Divided Equally; Other Allegations Made.

Charges that several local men asserted to be working for the city have been drawing pay checks from the city in return for personal work done for Lewis E. Miller, service director, are contained in a report of R. B. Beverly, state examiner.

Beverly's report filed with City Solicitor Paul E. Adkins and City Auditor Lillian M. Young makes findings against Mr. Miller for $120.60.

No Bills From Me, Vow of New Senator

Senator Robert R. Reynolds, Democrat of North Carolina, a newcomer to legislative halls—is out for a record. The record, Reynolds told newspaper men, would be not to introduce a single bill while he is serving his six-year term. "I think there are too many laws now," he said.

ROSS COUNTY SCHOOLS HIT

Nine Districts Are in Arrears in Payment of Teachers' Salaries.

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 3.—With nine school districts in arrears in salary payrolls from one to five months, eight now without funds and three in "fair" conditions, schools of Ross-co, today, were facing a crisis.

The county tax books are not yet open and it is impossible for the school boards to secure an advance on taxes until they are in the process of collection.

A couple of districts have been able to float loans, but unless collection of taxes starts soon to justify an advance there will be no payroll money within the next two weeks.

As a result of the depleted treasuries school boards are not voting payments to the teachers' retirement fund hoping that some relief will be afforded in this respect by the Legislature.

The city of Chillicothe school district has also had to borrow money in anticipation of the tax collection so that current payrolls could be met.

ASK WHITE'S AID

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—Oppressed farmers of northwestern Ohio today carried their fight for a moratorium on mortgages to Governor George White.

Bringing petitions for legislative relief, a delegation comprising about 60 farmers from Wood, Putnam, Ottawa, Paulding and Henry counties, interviewed the governor and urged immediate action "to improve conditions among Ohio farmers."

The delegation was headed by former state senator William Dunlap; Deputy Sheriff Ray Bowers, and Wood-co commissioners James Beard, Frank Asmus and George Shinn, all of Bowling Green.

STATE DRY LEAGUE NAMES CLIPPINGER

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—Dr. W. G. Clippinger, president of Otterbein college, Westernville, today had been elected president of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league.

Elected at the annual meeting of the organization last night, Dr. Clippinger succeeds Dr. W. O. Thompson, president emeritus of Ohio State University, who declined to take office a second time due to his health.

Among the trustees-at-large re-elected last night was Henry Oldham of Sidney.

Beverly says that from April 15th to April 30th, 1932, Roy Jenkins was working on a farm rented by Mr. Miller and C. A. Brown, horse-dealer, and that the city benefited in no way from the farm although Jenkins was paid partly by Miller's personal checks and partly by the city's checks.

"Referring to the time-books," Mr. Beverly says, "We find that they show Jenkins worked only one day for the city with $2.40 due him. However, he was paid for three days, a total of $7.20. Upon taking up this over-payment for labor with the city auditor, she informs me that Mr. Miller came to her and explained he had made a mistake in his time book and that Jenkins really had three days pay or $7.20 coming to him which was paid."

"FOR PERSONAL GAIN" "Inasmuch as Roy Jenkins was paid by city warrant for labor performed on the farm operated by Mr. Miller and Mr. Brown, for their personal gain, a finding for recovery of $7.20 is made against Jenkins, Miller and Brown."

The next finding made by Beverly was in the case of Roy Grooms, city employee, who was paid $9.60 for four days labor at 30 cents an hour. According to the time-book, kept by Miller, Grooms worked Oct. 8, 10, 11 and 12 but in his testimony taken at the time of investigation, last November, of the complaints he admitted he had been at the Fairfield-co fair at Lancaster on Oct. 12. A finding of $2.40 is made against Miller and Grooms in this case.

The next finding in the case is made in connection with an alleged partnership Miller had with H. Cramer. The latter worked in Miller's blacksmith shop, Beverly says in his report, and got 50 per cent of the money taken in. The agreement was that Miller was to receive 60 per cent and Cramer 40 per cent but that money was nevertheless divided evenly. Cramer says he worked at the shop from November, 1931, to August, 1932, and during that time did some work for the city. He told the examiner that when a check for payment of work done for the city was received it was divided evenly between he and Miller.

Mr. Beverly says, quoting the General Code of Ohio: "No member of council, board, officer or commissioner of a corporation shall have any interest in the expenditure of money on the part of the corporation, other than his fixed compensation. A violation of any provision of this or the preceding two sections shall disqualify the party violating it from holding any office of trust or profit in the corporation, and shall render him liable to the corporation for all sums of money or other things he may receive contrary to the provisions of such section and if in office shall be dismissed from such."

In the case of the partnership between Miller and Cramer a sum of $106.25 in favor of the city is found against Miller.

In only one case, covering the payments, did the name of Miller appear on a check as endorsement. M. E. Hicks, this city, is the next person dealt with by the examiner who says the man was working for Miller Nov. 28, 1932 on a 50-50 basis of receipts and that one payment is noted as being paid to Mr. Hicks for bill rendered to the city for blacksmith work. That was for $4.75 and a finding of that sum is made in favor of the city against Miller.

REPAIR BILL $420

Beverly goes on to say that from Feb. 20 to Oct. 22, 1932, William Erb, a city employee under Miller's supervision, was paid $420 for repairs on city machines which, according to Beverly, "seems an excessive amount for repairs considering the age and worth of these cars." He has repaired a Ford 1-2 ton truck, a Whippet roadster with a pick-up body and a city roller with some time being spent on repair of police cars which amount has been minor.

Jenkins said in testimony before

Early Selection Of Federal Site Seen In Capitol

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—From now until March 4, the inter-departmental committee on Federal buildings will work on an overtime schedule in an effort to keep the site for the new Circleville and Chillicothe post offices from being selected by the Democrats. Members of the committee insist that that isn't the real reason why their force is working 16 and 18 hours a day. The truth of the matter is they say, that the task of selecting sites for the projects named in the Relief Act is "essentially the job of the present administration." They are doing their successors a favor, they officials claim, in getting as much

INCENDIARISM SUSPECTED AS NINE WOMEN BURN IN SANITARIUM FIRE

Fifteen Other Patients, Two Nurses Escape Cottage Near Cleveland as Others Are Trapped; Farmer Suspected of Arson Plot is Sought.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 3.—Nine women patients at the Ridgecliff sanitarium in Wickliffe, a suburb, were burned to death today when a disastrous fire razed a woman's dormitory at the institution.

A suspected incendiary plot was being investigated in connection with the fire, from which 15 patients and two nurses escaped unhurt.

Bodies of all nine victims were discovered in the mass of debris after firemen gained control of the flames at the end of a five-hour battle. The bodies were badly burned, making identification difficult.

THREE IDENTIFIED

Only three of the victims were positively identified. They were: Mrs. Isabelle McBride, 60, Cleveland; Miss Lorane Dean, 76, Cleveland; Mrs. Mary Bennett, 70, Wickliffe.

The remainder of the victims, previously reported missing, were tentatively identified as: Mrs. Lottie Robach, 32, Cleveland; Miss Gladys Fraser, 30, Cleveland; Miss Helen Kovach, 49, Cleveland.

Mrs. Agnes Dorrington, 78, Cleveland; Mrs. Fannie Loudon, 54, Shaker Heights; Miss Ethel Zipp, 24, Cleveland. Five of the bodies were found piled in a corner of one room of the razed structure.

As the last bodies were recovered, officials launched a thorough investigation to determine the cause of the fire. A charge that the blaze was due to an incendiary plot was made by Dr. William Glendenning, a member of the sanitarium staff.

FARMER SUSPECTED

A. Chardon, O., farmer, with whom the sanitarium had been in dispute, was linked in the charges by the physician, according to authorities.

The farmer, police said, formerly furnished the sanitarium with provisions but was discharged. Yesterday, he was alleged to have phoned Mrs. Glendenning, wife of the doctor, and threatened "I'll get even if it kills me."

Scenes of wild confusion followed the discovery of the fire. Desperate attempts were made to save all of the trapped victims. Some were led to safety, while others had to be carried down ladders which were hastily placed to windows of the burning cottage.

Rescue work was hampered by nurses and attendants until the

More than 300 persons comprising the night crew, working in another building of the plant, escaped injury, as the blast shook the entire district, shattering windows within a wide radius.

JEWEL ROBBERIES STIR HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3.—Another jewel robbery startled Hollywood today.

The robbery occurred yesterday while members of Briskin's family and servants were absent.

WOMEN LYING THOMAS SAYS AFTER CHARGE

Relatives of Men in Prison Claim "Undue Familiarity"

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—Appointment of a special investigator was authorized today by Governor George White to probe charges of "undue familiarity" brought against Warden Preston E. Thomas, 55-year-old head of Ohio Penitentiary, by three women relatives of prison inmates.

The name of the investigator was not made known.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—Vigorous denial was made by Preston E. Thomas, warden of Ohio penitentiary here, to charges of "undue familiarity" which were reported to have been carried to Governor George White by three women relatives of inmates at the prison.

While wrapped in secrecy pending an official investigation, the charges were understood to place Warden Thomas in the line of bestowing favors on prisoners at the penitentiary in return for favors given him by women relatives of the inmates.

"Men in my position are always open to charges," Warden Thomas said today. "Denying the accusations, Thomas asserted that he never interviewed women who had access to his office and who were always with visiting relatives."

LEGION CHIEFS SEEK WAR JOB

Johnson, Stevens, O'Neil Vie For Appointment To Secretaryship.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Three national leaders of the American Legion were waging a three-cornered race today for the post of Secretary of War in the cabinet of President-elect Roosevelt.

They were: Monroe Johnson, of South Carolina, an overseas colonel in the Rainbow Division; Past National Commander Henry L. Stevens, Jr., of North Carolina; and Past National Commander Ralph T. O'Neil of Kansas.

Johnson was the "official" candidate of the Legion, having been endorsed by National Commander Louis A. Johnson of West Virginia, and a number of other prominent officials in the present legion administration. They have sent their endorsement direct to the President-elect.

The entire Congressional delegation from South Carolina endorsed Johnson. Senator Byrnes (D) of South Carolina, a close friend of the President-elect, admitted Johnson had this endorsement as well as that of current Legion officials.

The Legion support, however, was divided between Johnson, Stevens and O'Neil. Stevens served as national commander last year while O'Neil, curiously enough, defeated Johnson for that post at the Boston convention a few years ago.

CARROTS A WINTER STAND-BY FOR VITAMINS
Carrots are, or should be, a winter stand-by for the economical housekeeper, says the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They are among the cheapest of the vegetables, and for vitamin content they rank at the head of the list of edible roots. For texture, flavor, and color they are desirable in the family bill-of-fare. This vegetable can be used in a variety of ways.
The carrot advertises its values. The yellow of the carrot lends a cheerful tone to the table. The carrot yellow is due primarily to a pigment known as carotene. Scientists have found a definite relation between vitamin A and carotene. Where this pigment occurs, either vitamin A is present or the carotene is changed in the body to vitamin A. Other yellow vegetables such as sweetpotatoes, pumpkin, yellow corn, or yellow turnips are also better sources of vitamin A than are white potatoes, white corn, or white turnips.
Carrots, as it happens, are a rich source of vitamin B and vitamin C, as well as of vitamin A. The necessity of assuring an adequate supply of vitamin A, however, makes the cheaper vegetable sources of this vitamin especially useful in the low-cost diet. Therefore use plenty of carrots, says the bureau, for they are an important and cheap protective food.
Like cabbage and turnips, carrots are often eaten raw, and in that form give their fullest food values. Hence the Bureau of Home Economics suggests the frequent use of raw carrot sticks, chopped or grated carrot in salads, alone or combined with raw cabbage, with raw turnips, with cooked vegetables, or in gelatin.
Scientific cookery methods are necessary in the cooking of carrots, as of all other vegetables, if the mineral and vitamin value are to be preserved. To prevent such losses so far as possible, carrots may be steamed whole or baked in the pan with a roast, or simmered

Principals in Amnesia Drama

Stranger than fiction is the peculiar quirk of fate that has affected the lives of these three people. Edgar G. Allen (inset) disappeared from his home at Ridgewood, N. J., 22 years ago, leaving his wife and two small sons. The little family found never a trace of the missing husband and father until recently when Allen, an amnesia victim, was found in Knoxville, Tenn., under the name of Ted Morris. He had married again and had a thirteen-year-old daughter. Later he recovered his memory and is now back with his Ridgewood wife and sons. Above are Mrs. Ted Morris and her daughter, Dolores, Allen's Knoxville family, who have given up their husband and father to his first wife.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, shallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The Monroe basketball teams met with Scioto last Friday night and after two good games returned home with average of .500. The Monroe girls team after grabbing a three point lead at the third quarter lost out in the last 20 seconds of play by a 21 to 22 score. TONY SEEKING FOURTH TITLE

Canzoneri Tangles With Billy Townsend In Welterweight Class.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Tony Canzoneri's ten-round bout with Billy Townsend, Vancouver welterweight at Madison Square Garden tonight marks the start of the lightweight champion's drive to annex his fourth boxing title—more than fifty fights ever held.

Canzoneri, probably the best all-round fighter in the ring today, previously held the featherweight and junior welterweight crowns. If he can decisively whip Townsend, a welterweight trial horse, Tony will go after the leading 147-pounder, in having Jackie Field, the champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, the former New Orleans boot-black, succeeds in capturing his fourth title, he will surpass the record of Bob Fitzsimmons, who won the middleweight, light-heavyweight and heavyweight diadems.

East November Canzoneri rose to new heights when he won a decision over Billy Petrolle, who has wrecked most of the welterweights. Petrolle however, was weakened by the effort of making 135 pounds. Tonight the title will not be at stake and Tony will spot Townsend anywhere from six to ten pounds.

Despite this handicap, the champion is a 3 to 1 favorite. He appears too clever for the Canadian and figures to punch him full of holes unless Townsend, a hard hitter, happens to connect with his dangerous right.

SOME STARS SIGN OTHER IN REFUSAL

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Another big batch of ball players was in the field today, but two holdouts registered protests.

Lloyd Brown, southpaw pitcher, obtained by the St. Louis Browns from Washington, returned his contract unsigned, and Hack Wilson let loose a fall in Martinsburg, W. Va.

The chunky Brooklyn outfielder, who got $16,500 last year, almost failed ten days ago when the Dodgers offered him approximately $9,000 for 1933. Offered only $500 bonus, he declared he wouldn't sign for less than $14,850.

These squawks were as a voice in the wilderness, however. Brooklyn fired the signing of Fred Heintz, veteran, outfielder, pitcher, Joe Vosmik came to terms with Cleveland, pitcher Ed Druham and shortstop Hal Rhyne signed with the White Sox, and the Athletics reported everybody lined up except two of their star pitchers, George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg.

The Yankees released outfielder George Selkirk to their Newark, International league farm.

Glisters broke into the spotlight also. The Pirates signed Hans Wagner, noblest Roman of them all as coach, and the White Sox released Lu Blue, veteran first baseman, indicating Manager Lew Fonseca would attempt a comeback at first base for the pale horse.

Baseball to Cow Punching

Lonnie Warnecke, youthful star hurler of the Chicago Cubs, does not have much difficulty keeping in trim during the winter months, for he is also an expert cow puncher. Here is the Cub ace with his pony, "Buck." Warnecke works on his father's ranch which is situated about thirty-five miles from Hot Springs, Ark. After a winter in the saddle, Spring training call should sound like Gabriel's trumpet to the mound star.

STATE SQUADS WILL BE BUSY

Cage Team Goes To Minnesota While Track Stars Are in New York.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—Ohio State University's sport squads scattered to foreign lands today to engage in the stiffest schedule of week-end tilts of the season.

Taking up where it left off before final semester scholastic examinations, the basketball squad resumes its battle for the "Big Ten" cage championship in a game at Minnesota.

Meantime, the wrestling team, which is considered the best balanced in the history of the Buckeye school, invades Lansing to tackle Michigan State. The swimming team will meet the University of Cincinnati.

The main center of attraction, however, was on the seven track and field athletes who will participate in the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden. Jack Keller, stellar Buckeye hurdler, will compete against Monte Wells of Dartmouth, in the 50-yard high hurdles, while Morris Teitelbaum, Robert Brown, William Bloor and Merina Wiley will comprise the mile relay team.

COCHRAN ON WAY TO "POOL" TITLE

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Little Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., stood today as the last hope of the three cushion followers to repulse the balking threat of Welker Cochran, the San Francisco star who headed for the world three-cushion billiard championship.

Layton must whip Cochran tonight in the final match of the tournament in order to tie for first place. Then he must whip the Pacific coast wizard again in the play-off to keep the crown in three cushion territory.

Playing a smart game, Cochran last night overwhelmed Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., in the semi-final match. The score was 50 to 40 in 40 innings.

Bozeman won the break, ran seven and sat down. But Cochran ran five, three, two, one, none, two, none, two, three one to take a 19-9 lead, Bozeman paled. But Bozeman crept up on his fellow Californian to take a 28 to 27 lead in the twenty-first.

Then Cochran began getting good breaks and he finally drove to a 37 to 35 lead. Bozeman tied it, but Cochran dealt the finishing blow with runs of eight and four, which made it 48 to 38.

Layton may beat Cochran twice in a row, for on his present game he is capable of it, observes believe. But the odds are against him in view of the Californian's amazing showing.

PRINCETON IN 'RED'

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 3.—Figures released here today by the Princeton university athletic association show the school suffered a deficit of nearly $100,000 for the year ending June 30, 1932.

But the Yale and Harvard, the other schools of the "Big Three," Princeton will not make any drastic sports curtailment or abandonment for the coming season.

Last year's football earned only $84,762.48, as compared to $291,329.04 in 1930-'31 and $259,574.61 in 1929-'30.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" — An Absent-Minded Player

Lights of NEW YORK By WALTER TRUMBULL

Capt. Ashley McKinley has been telling me of the downward voyage made by the 'Eleanor Bolling', one of the ships of the Byrd expedition, from New York to Little America. It seems that the entire crew, with the exception of Captain Brown, the first mate and the chief engineer, were strictly volunteers, all being members of the exploring party. One or two of them may have had active experience in a rowboat, but none had really done anything to impair his standing as an amateur. Dr. Laurence M. Gould was second mate, because of his position as second in command to Admiral Byrd and because he was able to use a sextant. When he was not seasick, he was a very valuable second mate.

The ship got out of New York harbor all right, with the captain on the bridge, the first mate at the wheel, and the chief engineer dashing back and forth between the engine room and the stokehold. One of the volunteer stokers had once had some experience with an oil furnace in a suburban cottage, but the other had never done more than turn a radiator on and off. The Eleanor Bolling burned coal. By frenzied effort the two were able, while they lasted, to get up at least two pounds of steam.

This had a bearing on something which happened off Atlantic City. There a revenue cutter took the ship for a run runner, in spite of the "Byrd Expedition," painted plainly in various places, and signaled her to stop. Captain Brown was highly indignant and whether he would have stopped or not is somewhat of a question, but some one pulled the whistle cord, the whistle jammed and blew for about a minute and a half, and the ship came to rest of her own accord. All the steam was exhausted. When the revenue men came aboard they were welcomed by the officers with strong language and by the crew with loaded cameras. They were a sheepish looking lot.

Naturally, the mate couldn't spend all his time at the wheel and when he was relieved by the first volunteer, strange things happened. The ship began to do a sort of combination tango and barrel roll. Uttering loud supplications to all the gods of mariners, the captain reeled his way on deck. When he spoke feelingly to the helmsman, the latter was both astonished and hurt. "Why, captain," he protested, "she never was more than 6-inches off her course," meaning 6 inches on the compass card.

Owing to a few such trifling incidents, the ship, which had been due to reach Norfolk early on Tuesday did not arrive until Wednesday afternoon. This was a bit alarming to relatives of the crew who had gone there to meet her, especially as some of the papers carried head lines saying that the ship was overdue and probably had sunk. But with the mate again at the wheel she came into harbor nobly.

Meanwhile, the first volunteer stokers had given their best and their all. They were tenderly laid in bunks and Captain McKinley and the doctor took over the stoking job. They stoked a large part of making will be submitted in Hill form Monday night, and although he and Gunsett were adversaries in the gasoline tax diversion issue, they will campaign side by side in opposition to the governor's program.

Gunsett, chairman of the taxation committee, announced Tuesday that he was bolting the governor's proposed taxes on cigars, cigarettes, malt, amusements and soft drinks, to urge an income tax.

Herner's program establishes a general retail sales tax raising $25,000,000, doubles the intangible tax rates to obtain $18,000,000, levies taxes of $2,000,000 on legalized pari-mutuel betting, fixes a $3 flat rate on licenses of all pleasure cars, and re-establishes the general property tax on automobiles to yield $15,000,000.

In addition, Herner would cut 4 mills off the real estate tax, fixing an 11-mill maximum, which would save $45,000,000. The $60,000,000 total in revenues would be distributed on a schedule of $43,000,000 for schools, $12,000,000 for relief, and $5,000,000 for highways.

General confusion about the future of the legislative session was felt today while the two houses were in week-end adjournment.

Sales tax advocates, headed by Rep. Oakley Spaght (D), Akron, were happy, but state school teachers were glum.

The Lloyd bill to pay back salaries to teachers by borrowing from the highway fund was given treatment identical to that of the Gunsett bill, and was recommended to the finance committee, where it also was to run into delay.

Anticipating that his bill will be killed, after it has been supported and studied for two weeks, Senator John A. Lloyd (R), of Portsmouth, the author, introduced another bill to pay the salaries by borrowing from the retirement fund.

Governor White's 1933-34 budget is expected to be ready for presentation to the two houses soon after they return next week.

Intemperance
PUBLIC attention has been so long centered on the intemperate use of alcoholic beverages that the word "intemperate" has lost its broad meaning among a great part of the populace. If one were to ask the average person to define the word the definition most frequently given would be "to drink to excess," or something to the same effect.
Compare this popular understanding of the word with its definitions as found in Webster's dictionary:
"Indulging any appetite or passion to excess; immoderate in enjoyment or exertion; ungovernable, immoderate, inordinate; as, intemperate language, real, etc."
So it becomes evident that one may be intemperate in many different ways. There are intemperate eaters, intemperate smokers, intemperate workers, intemperate sleepers, intemperate idlers, intemperate spenders, intemperate talkers, intemperate thinkers, intemperate reformers; and finally there may be intemperance in anything.
In an essay on "The Evils of Intemperance" appears the statement:
"The history of mankind has shown that intemperance is the greatest evil which has afflicted the human race. Yet this is the lesson that mankind from age to age and from generation to generation persistently forgets. Spiritual intemperance unleashes the forces of hate, bigotry, oppression, tyranny, and the like and any or all of which have potentialities for evil in civilized communities that may be compared only with the physical intemperance that weakens and destroys barbarous or semi-civilized peoples."
"Victory in civilizations" war against intemperance in the use of intoxicating liquors will not abolish all intemperance. There are other forms of intemperance equally devastating and intolerable.

Two of life's urgent requisites are good health and a little more money.

Individualism In Business
THE status of the small, independent merchant in our present commercial structure is a subject which has received much attention of late from economists and students of business problems. The question whether he has a secure position in the development of business is being answered emphatically in the affirmative.
The resourcefulness and freedom of action of the individual will always go far toward offsetting the advantage of large-scale operations of the more complicated organizations. The independent business man with reasonable capital willing to utilize new methods and take advantage of new conditions has a greater opportunity today than ever before. Of course in this era of changing business methods the merchant who refuses to consider the new order of things must give ground to his more efficient competitor.
The independent merchant who functions intelligently as purchasing agent for his community has a distinct opportunity to render a real social service with profit to himself. The principal innovation introduced by the large corporation is the newer type of management and the recognized value of large-scale economies; but big business has no copyright on profitable methods and mere bulk is by no means necessarily synonymous with efficiency.
As commonly applied to the chain-store plan the "elimination of the middleman argument is meaningless, for the functions of the middleman have to be performed whether by individuals or by warehouses and branches of chain-store organizations.
Some women worry themselves gray trying to look young.
Is there any significance in the fact that Old Man Reform in the cartoons always carries an umbrella of the type that formerly looked on to a bar?

CHAPTER XLIII

New York alumni party at the Blackstone. Danny serving balls again. No more, Danny, I'm fixed up fine.
Down to the train to see the California boys off on the Trojan Special. Nice bunch of boys. Cheers for the Trojans. Funny how a lot of guys who never saw each other before batter each other for dear old Alma Mater and the gate receipts—which like a good mammy, Alma takes in her sock. Better not go into that; but sometimes a guy even gets his skull fractured—maybe knocked goofy for life... funny business.
Back to the Blackstone. A guy from the American Navy and a guy from the British Navy arguing about whether the American Navy's pal; the British Navy was full of apology if he did but claimed he didn't. He talked too much anyhow and was very undiplomatic; who the hell cared about Rugby anyhow; who cared if he was at Bee Lillie's wedding.
Girls from Show Boat. Ula sat by him; clever Ula; knew he was interested in her; Low about that? A yellow blond in a brown dress with yellow hair and a yellow voice. She knew he wanted to think her a nice girl. How come?
She had a neat way of shedding the guys who wanted to play rough. Maybe she was a nice girl. Her mother was in Chicago with her says she. She looked at him and she didn't.
Pat came in and said it was time for everybody to go home on account of Northwestern next week. When Pat said it, it must be so—what sold the idea to Pat?
That guy from Toledo still making speeches—and good ones; if you got too many stiff hookers you made a fool of yourself—two was enough for anybody. A blonde named Helen becoming very effusive, too fresh. Everytime you turn around a new girl from Show Boat; singing "Birds Gotta Swim". The English Navy thinks he can sing—and dance... girls... One more crack and Pat will be sinking the Navy. Get him out of here.
Ula pressed his hand when he said good bye; waved over the heads of the rioting communists as he went to the elevator. She knew that he knew that she knew or something like that. How about that?
What kind of human chemistry? Alumni downstairs arguing. Some want to take Stone and Sheets to another speaker; but Doc Reddy argued them down; wouldn't be fair to Barney. Doc said, Pat settled that.
"Yetta be shamed—tryna get these boys drunk," he said virtuously.
So they were actresses; hell—Rosalee could lay it over them like that Atlanta paper covers the dew; or Dixie—covers Dixie like the dew; funny thing to remember but that's how Rosalee could lay it on that mob, any mob. And a guy named Wynne was a sap.
Pictures in the papers. Man of Steel. John Wynne loved it.
Last game.
The Stadium was a battlefield. Eighty thousand cold soldiers packed in layers; carefully wrapped in blankets; boiled in alcoholic oil. Not even Volstead could object on a day like this.

Ted poured his one hundred and eighty pounds into the only man who might catch Pidge.
No great enthusiasm for this job... cold fingers... concrete said. "Finish the job," Bob Walsh had said. "Barney told me you were the best doctors he had. If you win today he can go to a hospital and rest up and get better."
They knew it; they would finish it up for Barney; but it would be a mechanical job; no tears left; no response to the pep talk.
Things had gone well at Northwestern; everything worked right; they had put it away in the second period; Garold, Sheets and Wynne—Ted intercepted a pass and brought it back eighty yards for one of the score. With a lead Stone had been held out for Army. Stone or Wynne would be all-American in the backfield; but Stone had been knocked off at Northwestern; broken leg. Pat never got what he rated out of football; but it never seemed to worry him—until now.
Bob was getting him now.
"A lot of you are playing your last game today—Pidge, Ted, Tom, Wally, Bruce."
"But not Pat."
"Pat got knocked off."
"Pat never had a chance to play his last game."
"You have—look at him; came all the way here with his leg in a cast when he should be in a hospital."
"He'd give that leg to play today."
"What are you guys going to do for Pat?"
Bob had them all.
Pat's head was down; Ted's sides quiver, his eyes swell up; his nose begin to fill, his tears come streaming.
Army was finally stubborn; everything to gain a thing to lose; exhausting the works.
Stone couldn't get started; a hard footing. Neither could Cagle; punting; with Wynne playing every trick close to his belly, run

Arthritis, Rheumatism Very Often Confused
Dr. Copeland Explains the Similarity, Lists the Probable Causes of Arthritis and Suggests Treatment

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health
New York City

I RECEIVE many letters from persons who suffer from arthritis. They ask for information about this disabling disease and are eager to know whether it can be cured. I am glad to say that arthritis is curable. It is a difficult and stubborn disease to cure, but modern science has gone far to conquer this affliction.
Many persons use the term "arthritis" when in reality they are referring to rheumatism, sciatica, neuritis or some other disorder that resembles arthritis. Arthritis is an inflammation of a single joint or of numerous joints of the body. The inflammation can be traced to an infection which may exist in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder or some other organ of the body.
Find Center of Infection
To cure arthritis, the center of infection must first be discovered and then removed. The inflammation can only be healed when the source of the trouble is determined. If the poisoning can be traced to infected tonsils, for example, they should be removed. It may require months of care and attention to locate the source of infection, but when it is found the ultimate outcome is good; do not become discouraged if you do not obtain immediate relief.
Correction of body posture, overcoming faulty elimination, improving hygienic conditions and care of the diet, are factors of great importance in the treatment of arthritis. Cases of arthritis have been traced to constipation. When this was overcome the pain in the joints diminished and ultimately disappeared.

Colitis, an infection of the colon, a part of the large intestine, may lead to arthritis. A sufferer from arthritis and colitis can have for an when the intestinal disturbance is removed. For such patients careful regulation of the diet is beneficial, and daily enemas may be useful. Of course, if diseased tonsils, teeth or sinuses are present they should receive the proper attention.
Diet Should Be Simple
I am often asked whether acid fruits, such as lemons, oranges and grapefruit, are harmful to the sufferer from arthritis. These fruits contain acids, but when they are taken into the laboratory of the body the acids are burned and bases are set free, substances which are alkaline. This helps the body neutralize any tendency towards acidity.
The diet should be simple and nutritious. Include in it plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, as well as food which contain valuable vitamins, mineral salts and liberal amounts of protein.
Avoid excessive eating and food that are fat, fried or greasy. Drink at least six to eight glasses of water daily. Between meals (chew your food slowly and thoroughly) avoid foods that are irritating and lead to digestive upset. Follow the instructions given you by your physician.
Do not neglect this disorder. It is more difficult to cure when it becomes chronic, with definite bone changes in the joints.
Answers to Health Queries
V. E. T. Q.—What causes both colds?
A.—Colds are often due to bacteria, but many are caused by viruses. They are transmitted by contact with infected persons and by contact with contaminated objects. Avoid contact with infected persons and objects. Wash your hands frequently and use disinfectants.
Mrs. P. A. H. Q.—What do you advise for catarrh and deafness?
A.—Consult a self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and request your question.

MOVIES

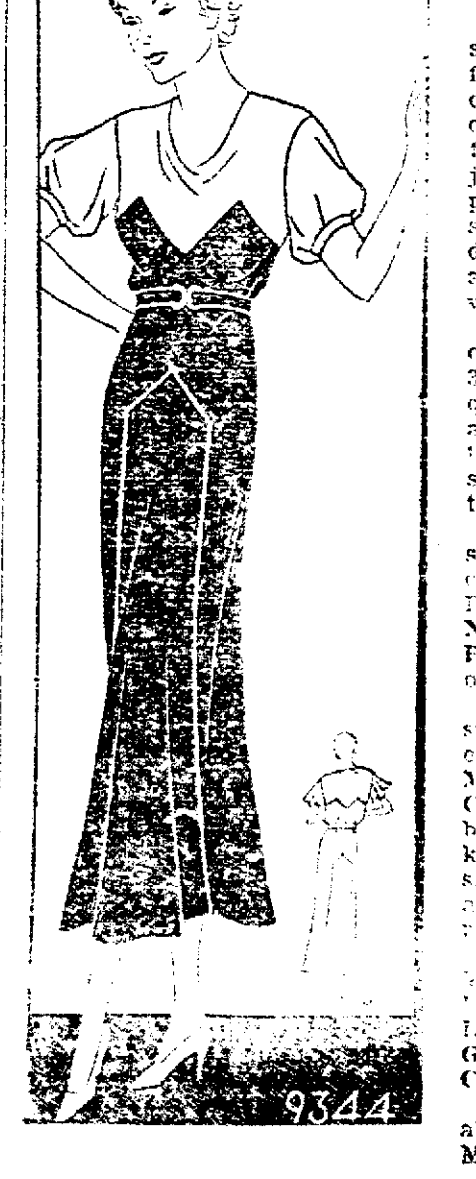

AT THE CLIFTONA
"Under-Cover Man," drama centering around a big-time crook who gambles with his own life and the life of the girl he loves to hunt down the slayers of his father, opens today at the Cliftona Theatre with a cast headed by George Raft, Nancy Carroll, Roscoe Karns, Lew Cody and Gregory Ratoff.
"Under-Cover Man" is a story of the upper crust of the underworld, of crooks who play Wall Street and the Gold Coast for single coups of thousands.
Raft is cast as a crook. But when his father, a "fence" for stolen goods, is murdered, he turns against his own kind, and sets out to have his revenge. To this end, he offers his services to the police as an undercover man to pass himself as a member of the underworld and work secretly in cooperation with the authorities. In so doing, he realizes that he can expect no help whatever from the police if his underworld cohorts discover his connection. In that event, he knows, he is doomed for a one-way "ride."

At left is Mrs. Reed Albee, New York society hostess, pictured as she soaked a long one down the fairway at Palm Beach, Fla. And at right, a distinguished visitor enjoys a cooling dip. An impressive meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Brethren church was held Tuesday evening in the Sunday school room of the church. At this time a call to prayer issued by the National Women's Missionary Association was observed by the local women.

A threatened shortage of funds serious curtailment of the work was the basis of earnest prayer in which several ladies and the Otterbein Guild girls took part. The worship service was under the leadership of the vice president, Miss Nellie McCollister, the subject being "Depths of Gratitude."

Rev. T. C. Harper gave a splendid talk on the topic, "The Real Meaning of Prayer — Fellowship with God." Mrs. Fannie Grengo sang, "The Garden of Prayer" and at the conclusion of the service another solo, "In the Morning Father" was rendered by Miss Lucille Kirkwood.

A short business session followed under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Ralph Long.

STATE EMPLOYEES PLANNING TO MEET

Ohio state employees of the Boys' Industrial School as well as state highway sections hereabouts, and other state employees, will go in large numbers to Columbus on Wednesday, Feb. 15, to attend the eighth annual dinner of the Ohio State Employees' Benevolent Association, at Memorial Hall, Columbus.

More than one thousand state employees will attend, advance figures indicate, and the great interest this year is due to the fact that the state employees, 20,000 in number, have before the legislature a bill for state employees' retirement system, modeled after that of Ohio teachers. No money is asked of the legislature, however, nor are the employees themselves to be assessed at least for the next two years. The bill merely calls for the system to be set up, and made ready to function.

Gov. White will be guest of honor at the dinner, and his official family will attend. There will be entertainment, dancing and cards.

EXAMINER

Beverly, taken by Helen Rowe, county court stenographer, that he had done work for Miller in his blacksmith shop, taking care of horses and working on the farm. He admitted he was paid by the city and by Miller.

Cramer, who lives in Lovers Lane, told the examiner he never received checks from the city for repair work done in Miller's blacksmith shop for the city but that after endorsing a city "slip" he turned it over to Mr. Miller who gave him half of what the "slip" called for.

Mr. Miller has been service director and health commissioner under Mayor B. T. Hedges since the latter became mayor.

BUTTONS OF SLATE

POTT, Transcaucasia, U. S. S. R.—An unusual economy idea submitted to the Soviet Government by an anonymous worker-inventor connected with a laboratory here has been adopted. He suggested buttons made of slate instead of bone or mother of pearl be used throughout the Union. It has been found to serve the purpose and cost one half as much to produce.

and Gretel were cleverly enacted by Betty Bowsher and Laddie Goeller.

David Jackson and Mary Jane Schlar, as Hansel's and Gretel's father and mother were well adapted to their part. The stage lighting effects were good for which the honor goes to Harold Baughman and Paul Weaver.

The entire presentation was different from any ever given in this locality and the first operetta of its kind to be presented by such a young group of boys and girls. The directors' ability in training children was timely demonstrated.

CAST IS CHANGED

An opportunity will be given those who did not see the operetta last night to attend a performance this evening with the same chorus and dance groups taking part with a different cast. Robert Fickardt will be seen in the role of Peter; Betty Lee Nickerson as his wife; James Moffitt as Hansel; Betty Weiler as Gretel and Mary Newmyer as the cookie witch.

Wickliffe fire department arrived. Several minutes were lost in summoning firemen when proper phone connections could not be made.

The blaze burned quickly, and the rescue efforts had to be halted when the flames barred all entrances into the house.

ALL THOUGHT SAVED

For a time it was believed that all of the patients had been saved. They could not be accounted for at the sanitarium but officials believed they might have fled from the scene. As the fire was extinguished, however, two of the bodies could be seen among the wreckage, and further search revealed the other seven.

Owing to the charred condition of some of the bodies, officials expressed doubt whether some of them could be positively identified.

The fire, according to Mrs. Virginia Glendenning, superintendent at the sanitarium and wife of Dr. Glendenning, started in the hallway below the first floor.

Miss Ethel Craig, one of the two nurses in the cottage, discovered the blaze and aroused the sanitarium officials. Then she and Miss Florence Farrell, the second nurse, began to lead the terror-stricken inmates to safety.

The delay in the arrival of the fire department was caused by the fact that phone connections could not be made immediately, according to Mrs. Glendenning. She said she did not blame the fire department for the delay.

State Fire Marshal Val Hafner and J. P. Hopkins, of Cleveland, went to Wickliffe to conduct an investigation of the blaze after the fire had been extinguished.

The damaged cottage was a one and a half story frame building, one of the three on the sanitarium property. The blaze razed the structure to the ground, leaving only the chimney standing. It was valued at $17,500.
